

Gfree, a subscription-based menu-planning service that helps you prepare gluten-free meals by providing recipes and an automatic grocery list creator, has teamed with Carol Fenster, PhD, a gluten-free cooking expert and cookbook author, who developed all the site's recipes for meals and baked goods.
www.gfreecuisine.com

Lundberg Family Farms has always offered great-tasting products for people with celiac disease, including organic rice, rice cakes, pasta, rice bowls, risottos, hot cereals, and a delicious, satisfying snack that rivals potato or corn chips—Rice Chips, in seven flavors. The latest in the long line of gluten-free products is Roasted Brown Rice Couscous in four flavors.
www.lundberg.com

San-J's all-natural Tamari Brown Rice Crackers give people with celiac disease a safe snack and a perfect match for dips, soups, spreads, and cheese. In four flavors, they're glazed with San-J Tamari Gluten Free Sauce and baked, so they're low in calories and fat. San-J also makes a range of excellent gluten-free Asian cooking sauces and salad dressings.
www.san-j.com

Get gluten-free cereal your way with Custom Choice Cereal. You specify the ingredients you want, choosing from your favorite dried fruits, nuts, and seeds to create your own blend. Just go online, make your choices, and Custom Choice Cereal blends it and ships it to your door.
www.customchoicecereal.com

Al Fresco All Natural Chicken Sausages, in 12 great flavors (three for breakfast and nine for dinner), including Sweet Italian and Roasted Pepper and Asiago, make delicious meals. And the dinner flavors pair wonderfully with pasta, salads, soups, and other dishes, as do Al Fresco's new All-Natural Chicken Meatballs in Tomato & Basil and Teriyaki Ginger. Al Fresco products are fully cooked; made with lean, skinless chicken meat; have no artificial ingredients; and are gluten free.
www.alfrescoallnatural.com

Enjoy a gluten-free snack and help combat hunger at the same time. Two Degrees Food fights childhood hunger with the debut of its Two Degrees nutrition bars. In three flavors—Apple Pecan, Cherry Almond, and Chocolate Peanut—they're all natural and made with real fruits, toasted nuts and seeds, and wholesome grains. For every Two Degrees nutrition bar sold, a medically formulated nutrition pack goes to a malnourished African child.
www.twodegreesfood.com

Sweet news: Organicville Foods, a maker of organic, vegan, and gluten-free condiments and sauces, has launched a new line of certified-organic and gluten-free ice creams. In four classic flavors—Vanilla, Chocolate, Strawberry, and Mint Chocolate Chip—these treats are also vegetarian and kosher. Not only gluten free but also egg free, they're remarkably creamy and rich tasting.
www.organicvillefoods.com

— KJ